Mayor Thompson has vetoed the or-dinance passed by the Council last Tuesday, transferring the duty of supervising the distribution of irrigation water from Watermaster Condie to City Engineer Kelsey. In taking this stand the mayor makes the statement that he ems it inexpedient to impose any additional duties upon the city engineer. The veto will come before the Council tomorrow night, but the general im-pression is that it will not be acted on till the following week. Many are of opinion that the ten necessary votes required to pass the ordinance over the Mayor's veto cannot be obtained, and political influence is being brought to bear on councilmen to get the concur in the mayor's veto for the reason that it will reflect on the Repub lican administration to confess that Waterwaster Condie has been derelict in his duties.

SAD SEQUEL TO A MURDER. Daughter of Charles Thiede Dies Agony After a Life of Shame.

There is a sad moral lesson to be drawn from the life of Mary Thiede, who died in great agony at the Holy Cross hospital yesterday morning. She seems to have been a moral pervert, whom the greatest kindness and solicitude could not regenerate; and the utmost persuasion of a number of pub-lic spirited women, who took an interest in the girl seems to have been futile in leading her footsteps back into the aths of virtue.

Two months ago Mary was operated upon for an internal growth of a seri-ous nature, but returned to a life of shame before she had recovered from the effects of the operation. As a con-sequence about ten days ago she became very ill again and was taken to the Holy Cross hospital last Wednes-day, where she suffered excruciating agony. Continuous hypodermic applications of morphine had to be administered to relieve her pain. Her case had passed beyond the power of the surgeon to cure, however, and the unfortunate girl died in great agony yesterday morning. She was only 18 years of age, and for the last two years had been living a life of shame in this city.

Mary's father, August Thiede, was hanged about five years ago for the murder of his wife near Murray, where he conducted a saloon. The murder was one of the most atrocious and coldblooded that has ever happened in Utah, the body of Thiede's victim being actually hacked to pieces. The cir-cumstances of the atroclous crime created a wave of sympathy for the 13-year-old daughter. A Salt Lake family took her in and cared for her for a unhappy child could not keep her in the paths of rectitude. She seemed to be morally degenerate, and her sad death yesterday is a fitting finale to the life history of an ill-fated family.

"AUNT" ZINA LAID TO REST.

Glowing and Glorious Tributes Paid the Venerable Woman.

AN IMPRESSIVE FUNERAL.

Obsequies Are Held in the Assembly Hall in an Atmosphere of Love and Fragrance.

The funeral of "Aunt" Zina Young esterday morning was an outpouring of love and tender affection. It was the gathering of the harvest. She had spent her whole life in sowing seeds of kindness and sympathy, and when her aged body was laid to rest her tomb was heaped high with the beautiful symbols of the tenderest human feel-

The obsequies, which were held in the Assembly hall, were after the manner of her own life; calm, placid, but containing withal that silent divine influence that stirs souls to their depths. It is needless to say that the building was filled to its limit and the drapings and flowers were such as are seen only at the funeral of a beloved one. The stand was draped in white and on the sacrament table rested the handsome white broadcloth coffin covered with flowers. On both sides of the casket rested several magnificent floral pieces. One of the most striking devices was a design of the temple in purple and white asters, which was contributed by the Tempie workers. The general board of the Relief Society sent a magnificent "Gates Ajar;" the Relief Society of Weber Stake sent a harp; the Y. L. M. I. A. a pillow, and the children of the deceased sent a sheaf of wheat and a siekle of roses with a semi-circle hear. sickle of roses with a semi-circle bear-ing the word "Mother," the whole piece was surmounted by a beautiful crown. The Primary association sent a harp of roses and asters, and there was a beautiful crown from the Salt Lake Stake Relief society; a wreath of purple asters and white roses, tied with white silk from the Utah silk commission was conspicuous among numerous other smaller tokens that bore their eloquen testimony of love in which "Aunt" Zina was held. The Assembly hall was crowded and on the stand were Presi-dent Lorenzo Snow and many of the Church authorities, Prest. Angus M. Cannon presided over the services which were opened by the Tabernacie choir singing, "When First the Glorious Light of Truth," a favorite hymn of "Aunt" Zina's.

The opening prayer was offered by Apostle Anthon H. Lund, and the ser-vices were continued with the solo, 'Awake My Soul," sung by Prof. H. S. Goddard.

The first speaker was President Snow who prefaced his address by saying that would call this a solemn occasion, but he thought that when a man or woman goes faithfully through life and have performed their mission properly, there is no occasion to mourn. Exaltation follows their course. Presi-Zina 65 years ago, when she was 18 years of age. Since that time he had been intimately acquainted with her, and he did not know of a woman whose duties in life were performed more effectually than hers. He said that in viewing her past life he was filled with pride and thanksgiving. We cannot help but shed tears, but how happy is the contemplation that she has passed but of life and force to be exceeded. out of life and gone to her exaltation. The relatives of the deceased were admonished to follow in her steps, to make as few mistakes as she made and their glory would be sure. The Apostle John was bidden to write, "Blessed are those who die in the Lord," for their works would live after them. It was so with "Aunt Zina," her works will live after her. "We ought to feel in our heart," said President Snow, "that God is our Father, and that while we make mistakes and are weak yet if we live as nearly perfect as we can all will be well This sister has lived in this with us. When she was suddenly stricken with the blow that took her conclous-ness away, she was prepared to go and meet her Maker. Now I say to you all, brothers and sisters, do likewise."

The next speaker was Mrs. Jane S. Richards, wife of the late Apostle Franklin D. Richards, and first couns or to "Aunt Zina" as president of the Relief Society. She said she could en-dorse every word that President Snow had said of her beloved sister. She had known "Aunt" Zina between fifty and years and in her there was no variation. The kingdom of God was always first with her.

Mrs. Richards bore a strong testimony to the divinity of the Gospel and the good that is being done by the Relief Societies, "Sister Zina," she continued, "has often gone to the bedside of the sick when she herself was feeling ill, and she has returned feeling strong for having done her duty. 'Aunt' Zina was an example to all of us, and if I can go where she and Sister Eliza R. Snow are will feel repaid for having lived."

Mrs. Bathsheba Smith was the next speaker. She met "Aunt" Zina in 1840. at a meeting in which the power of God was manifest. The two friends had been like sisters ever since. She did not think it would be many years before she would meet "Aunt" Zina again, and the others who had gone before her. She did not She asked those present to continue the labor of love. To visit the sick and the afflicted and comfort those who are cast

The succeeding speaker was Mrs. Em-meline B. Weils. She had said that she could not speak on this occasion for she was naturally emotional, and she loved "Aunt" Zina greatly. She rejoiced over the glorious life of the departed, who was associated now with such women "Mother" Whitney and Eliza R. ow. "I mourn for Sister Zina and I cannot help it. No woman was ever greater loved than Sister Zina. I think of all the beautiful attributes that adorn women on earth, she had the most heavenly, humility. She had another of the great virtues, obedience. She was obedient to the authorities of the Church and obedient to her own conscience. And she had many other great and noble virtues."

Eider Seymour B. Young was the next speaker. He began by saying that "Aunt" Zina returned from Canada last Sunday in a comatose condition. On Tuesday morning he asked her if she knew him and she opened her eyes and was the only time that she That seemed to recognize anyone. "She was indeed a noble woman," said the speaker. "You all know how tender speaker. her heart was. I think she was made of the stuff of which martyrs are made. She has proven often that she would lay down her life for the main-I think she was made tenance of the truth. She was a very cleanly woman. Clean in language, thought and action."

Elder Young went on to tell of the work that "Aunt" Zina had performed; of the hardships and sacrifices she en dured and the devotion she showed to the sick and the poor. She was a woman who loved the truth, and loved her fellow man. It did not make so much difference what creed one possessed if he were in need he could easily appeal to the heart of "Aunt" Zina. She was not only good and tender-hearted mother but she took other children to her heart and reared them like her own, and marked out the path for them to walk in. She was path for them to walk in. She was a woman of deep humility and she always did as she could, although doubt-ing her own ability to do much. "Aunt"

Zina's name and character will live after her and will endure forever."

Elder John Micholson was the next speaker, and he began by saying that he had listened with interest and pleasure to all that had been said of "Aunt" Zina. "In all my experience and ob-servation." said he, "I never heard a nore glowing and glorious tribute paid to any one that had passed from this sphere to the beyond, than has been paid to "Aunt" Zina, and I can say that it is all the truth. This indicates to me how close a son or daughter can approach to the carrying out of that admonition, be ye perfect, even as your father which is in heaven is perfect. I have never heard of any failing that she possessed. If she had any, I have falled in getting the information. Those who overcome the most shall receive the most glorious inheritance that can be given to mortal man, and that is what "Aunt" Zina has done and she as gone to her reward." Elder Nicholson paid a most eloquent tribute to the character of "Aunt" Zina, which, he said, perhaps shone with greatest luster within the circle of her own family. It was attested in the that the love her foster children had for her was in no degree less than that of her own children." This, thought the speaker, spoke volumes for her impartiality, and her great sense of Miss Arvilla Clark sang "Gently. Lord, Oh. Gently Lead Us," a beautiful song rendered in exquisite style. Apostle A. H. Lund spoke next. He sald that many glorious things had been said of the departed, but he thought she merited them all. "Aunt" Zina was more than a friend. She has been "Aunt" Zina to all Israel, "What a gentle, pure woman she was," said the speaker. "All her life from the time she was a young woman had been spent in the service of the Lord. She was a woman in whom the spiritual nature was well developed, although she was very practical. She loved her neighbor; loved to do good to others. She was a blessing wherever she traveled. What a noble character she had. When the sons and daughters of God come up to receive their reward, "Aunt" Zina will be one of that happy throng on the right hand of God, to whom it will be said, "I was sick and in prison and ye visited me." "Aunt" Zina has laid up riches that are unfading. I believe that every unselfish act we perform will be counted as a treasure for us on the other side, and I believe that Sister Zina has up many, many treasures of this kind."

President Angus M. Cannon spoke next, sying that he had known "Aunt"
Zina for fifty years. If ever a woman lived inclined to do her Heavenly Fa-ther's will rather than her own it was "Aunt" Zina. The speaker went on to pay tribute to the life and character of the departed, and expressed the hope dren shall live worthy to go where she The next speaker was Elder C. W Penrose, who began by quoting the words of the Bible, "Be ye also ready." 'Aunt" Zina was always ready called upon to attend to the duties o her office in ministering unto sick and fallen humanity. She was also ready, when the time came, to go and meet "Aunt" Zina was in Ogden last Sunher Maker. day, but he expected to see her again, when she is clothed upon by the glory of God. He had known her for forty years, and it seemed to him that her life was a benediction. In every respect she was a saint of God. She was indeed a noble and blessed woman, and her name will be had among her peo-ple always. If we are faithful and ers and choirs is directed to the Latter concluded the speaker, we will join her and all the true and noble ones who have gone before, and receive the glorious crown that is in waiting for all the good and the faithful

The choir sang, "O. My Father," and the benediction was pronounced by Bishop W. B. Preston. While the casket was borne slowly out of the building, followed by the family of the deceased, the audience remained seated. The long funeral cortege was formed on South Temple, making a line of vehicles reaching from the Bee Hive house to West Temple street. The interment was made in the City cemetery the grave being dedicated by Apostle A quartet from the Tabernacle choir sang, "Nearer, My God, to Thee," and after the coffin was covered, the mourners returned to the city

Not the least touching and beautiful feature of the funeral was the fact that the pallbearers were sons of the lat President Young who had loved "Aunt" Zina as a mother. They were Hyrum S., Oscar B., Don Carlos, Morris, Lorenzo D. and Alonzo Young.

PAVING TO BEGIN SOON.

Machinery of Alcatraz Company Has Arrived-Material Also Coming.

Three carloads of machinery belonging to the Alcatraz Asphalt Paving company, and which it will use in the paving of Second and Third South streets and the repairing of the pavements in the old paving district, have arrived from California and will be working on the pavements within the next ten days. The first lot of asphalt is expected to arrive by the end of this week, and three cars on which the asphalt will be heated and mixed have been switched into the block to the east of the R. G. W. freight shed. As this kind of paving cannot be laid satisfactorily in the winter season, the worl will be confined to repairing the old pavements and the south half of Second South street. The balance of the con-tract will be completed next spring. The entire work will cover about a mile of streets and will cost over $140.000. It is highly probable that if the Alcatraz company does good work on its present contract the company will next year have a larger job for Salt Lake City, viz. the paving of South Temple from the Short Line depot to Saventh or Short Line depot to Seventh or Eighth East street.

Rock for the curbing and crossings is being quarried from the Culmer-Jennings company's quarry, near Park City. Portland cement of Utah manu-facture has been contracted for, and carloads of sand and gravel are ready for delivery as soon as called. Superintendent Bayler of the Alcatraz with a single watering. Both cereals are almost entirely free from weeds of every kind and well developed considering the fact that they obtained only the one watering referred to. Had they received another when the grain was "in the boot" the kernels would have been larger still and the yield would also have been largely increased. Nevertheless it was very good as it was and shows what lucern is worth as a reclaimer of poor, "worn out" or "run down" land.

From ten acres of ground Mr. Bring-hurst got 410 bushels of wheat, machine measure, and from three acres of ground 210 bushels of oats, machine measure. This, of course, means a heavier yield than what these figures show as machine measure is always over and above the actual bushel. Speaking of the matter to the "News" Mr. Bringhurst said he had raised six successive-crops of wheat on this same ground and that the lightest yield was 32 bushels to the sere and the was 32 bushels to the acre and that the heaviest was 54. Prior to that the ground had been fertilized by lucern.

ONE BEER TOO MUCH. George Gault Falls Unconscious in a Saloon.

Last evening Officer Kirkman was called to Del Wilson's saloon to take charge of a man who had fallen to the floor unconscious after drinking a glass of beer. His name is George D. Gault, a railroad man working for the Oregon

Short Line company.

According to the bartender, Gault entered the place and began drinking beer, and after two or three glasses fell to the floor presumably in a fit. Officer Kirkman took him to the police Station and Dr. King was sent for.
After working with the man some time
he was revived and sent to his home.
Dr. King said the man's symptoms indicated poisoning.
